

SM57 and SM58® Inside the Legends

Written by Davida Rochman on December 7, 2007 under Education

A Shure Educational Podcast

We take a look at the history and technology of the legendary SM57 and SM58® microphones in this episode. A few highlights from the show include: the “drop test” and a testimonial from devoted SM58 user Henry Rollins. Tim Vear from Shure’s Applications Department is our guest.

00:00

00:00

GET SHURE BLOG UPDATES & MORE VIA EMAIL
SUBSCRIBE HERE

Davida Rochman

A Shure associate since 1979, Davida Rochman graduated with a degree in Speech Communications and never imagined that her first post-college job would result in a lifelong career that had her marketing microphones rather than speaking into them. Today, Davida is a Communications Manager,

LEAVE A COMMENT

SHORT URL

shu.re/Dpw5Ln

SHARE

Related Posts

How Rooms Affect Sound

A Shure Educational Podcast Learn how various room characteristics and source-to-microphone distance affect the sound that is picked up by the microphone.

Shure Artists Cover Shure Artists

At this point I have our artist roster memorized, our products memorized, everything memorized. It's hard to watch a TV show or a music video and not notice a Shure...

